

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 28, 2009

Contact: William Marks, W. B. Marks Partners for TechAmerica Southeast at 404.510.9347 or Ashli Romeyn at MMJ Labs 877 805 2899 aromeyn@mmjlabs.com

MMJ Labs and Buzzy4Shots.com Finalists in

TechAmerica Southeast 2009 Spirit of Endeavor Awards

Nearly 100 Nominations Received; Largest in Award's History

Atlanta, GA – MMJ Labs announced today its position as Finalist for the TechAmerica Southeast 2009 Spirit of Endeavor Awards, out of the most competitive field in the seven-year history of the awards.

"We were thrilled to be nominated, and to be finalist in two categories was extremely gratifying," said Dr. Amy Baxter, CEO of MMJ Labs and the inventor of their personal pain product line.

The award categories in which Dr. Baxter and MMJ Labs were chosen as finalist included Technology Entrepreneur and Cool Technology of the Year. Up to five finalists were chosen for each category by a selection committee comprised of representatives from the southeastern technology community.

MMJ Labs' Cool Technology contender was a small vibrating bee that blocks needle pain. Dr. Baxter brought "Buzzy" to the podium to receive the honor.

Communications Infrastructure Group, LLC., Atlanta, was the Premiere Sponsor for the 2009 Spirit of Endeavor Awards. Other sponsors include:

- Platinum: Definition 6, Atlanta; EMS Technologies, Norcross, Ga.; Habif, Arogeti & Wynne,

Atlanta; and NIIT Technologies, Atlanta.

- Gold: Burnette Insurance, Suwanee, Ga.; CresaPartners, Atlanta; FOCUS, Atlanta; and Mansell

Group, Atlanta.